

This is a non statutory duty which the council currently carries out, if this proposal is to be authorised, due consideration of the local communities views will need to be looked at as this will not be received well and may be seen as breaching our mission outcome of people will live in safer and stronger communities

Other information

Argyll and Bute Council have a 9 million pound funding gap for 2019/20 and will be required to transform how we work so that we can deliver the services our communities need. As such a review of all non-statutory duties has identified that school crossing patrollers are not legislatively required.

Gaps in evidence

No public consultation has been carried out prior to this proposal going ahead.
